When Dissolving in Water

In some cases, Rootella P can be dissolved in water and effectively applied to crops, either via injection or via sprinkler. Note that mycorrhiza is immobile in soil, and thus application via drip irrigation is not recommended. Prior to applying Rootella P as a water-soluble solution, please contact Groundwork for more precise instructions based on your cultivation protocol.

Recommendations

- For best results, store between 5-22°C (40-71°F), in dark place and protected from direct sunlight or heat source.
- Keep bag tightly sealed after use.
- Do not inhale; use only as directed.

Important Note

AVOID any use of systemic fungicides, especially on mycorrhizal plants. Application of systemic fungicide to roots kills all mycorrhiza. Non-systemic foliage fungicides are usually safe to use. See Rootella Fungicide Compatibility document for more information.
